Apex Lamp Collection Design by John Tree

In HAY's new collaboration with John Tree, the British designer offers his take on the classic Banker's Light typology, resulting in a functional lamp series that balances familiarity with a contemporary expression.

Focusing on colour as a core element of the design, Apex's distinctive folded steel shade uses vibrant tones to create a graphic contrast to the chrome-plated bases. Available in several different models – the Clip Lamp, Desk Clip Lamp, Desk Lamp, and Table Lamp – there is an Apex member that caters to every space and situation, from a task light in a workspace to an ambient lamp in the bedroom.

John Tree

British John Tree is a London-based product and furniture designer. After graduating from Kingston University, he worked for FM Design before developing products for the Sony Design team in their Tokyo, San Francisco, and London offices. John subsequently joined Jasper Morrison's studio, before opening his own office in 2016. He currently divides his time between Jasper's studio and his own, where he pushes and explores industrial processes to create contract and domestic furniture, lighting, accessories, and electronics. His work has been widely featured in a number of international publications, as well as winning several prestigious design awards.

Colour is used as a key element in the folded steel shades, creating strong and colourful graphic shapes.
